VERDENSHISTORIEN 1. DEL: EN PLADS PÅ JORDEN

Anders Sørensen, Per Tønnes Nielsen, Hans Perk, Denmark, 1993

26 min. | DK/Short fiction | Children's films, Animation

The world was created four and a half billion years ago. It is barren, but life itself arises from the water and the sunshine and some creatures leave the water. On earth many kinds of animals are created and the huge dinosaurs rule until a gigantic meteor changes the conditions on earth and the huge animals die out. The mammals take over, and one day an ape lengthens his arm with a club: Man is made. And man builds houses, hunts animals and cultivates land. But he also catches other human beings, sacrifices animals and people to the gods, invents war, income tax, politicians and the professional army and the written language, democracy and philosophy. One day the Roman emperor Augustus wants to take a census. But Joseph is worried. He is not the father of the child. Who is?

Our wonderful world history is told with imagination and catching humour.
