CLIMANIACS

Christoffer Dreyer, Camilla Magid, Adam Rieper, Julie Bezerra Madsen, Fenar Ahmad, Eirik Sæter Stordahl, Nynne Becher Standrup, Anders Skovbjerg Jepsen, Denmark, 2009

Anthology | Children's films

Eight unique and thought provoking short films on climate change. Overuse, inadequate transport and bioethanol from the rainforest. While world leaders are planning for the future of the planet, eight young directors ponder over issues that affect global warming. The films take a closer look at some of the climate problems the world faces today; problems politicians and policy makers around the world will have to relate to.

Like: when a fish is landed in Esbjerg only to be shipped to China to be filleted. And then shipped to central France to be prepared for frying, and finally eaten as fish fingers in Denmark by the fisherman, who caught it.
