ROGUE GIRLS

Tine Katinka Jensen, Mette Carla Albrechtsen, Denmark, 2012

39 min. | DK/Documentary

Life as a teenage girl in the concrete ghetto is tough. Our main characters, Afaf, Sasja and Hilal are in conflict with the law, friends, and with their families on an everyday basis. Each in their own way, they choose to face their problems and pursue their own way in the world, but it's hard when violence and peer pressure's always lurking on the sideline. The film provides a rare glimpse into an environment, which is normally a closed world. What is it like to grow up with constant failures and fights when you're also trying to find your own identity.
