

Liv Ullmann, Denmark, 1992
150 min. | DK/Feature

Liv Ullmann's directorial debut also had her co-authoring the screenplay (with poet Peter Poulsen) as based on a Henri Nathansen's 1932 novel about an affluent late 19th century Jewish merchant family in Copenhagen. Ullmann focuses on strong-willed daughter Sofie's progress through life: a love affair with a gentile painter, an arranged marriage, childbirth and ever more fateful challenges.
