What's it like to be a child in a family where one's sibling is seriously ill? "Shadow Children" is a film that will show how a child experiences it, when your family is going through a crisis. The loneliness, fear, joy, hope and sudden impulsive eruption that occurs when one's family is going through such a process. How does a child keep its own identity, and where do you find the bright spots that make it possible to cope everyday life?
