The film is inspired by a true story set in 1964, New York, where several neighbours witness the brutal murder and rape of Kitty Genovese and do not intervene. The film peeks into the lives of three disparate families, the lonely neighbour and the doorman. We connect with the neighbours and understand their decisions not to act by following their day-to-day struggles. Inside their apartments the neighbours are dealing with their personal lives and conflicts the same way as they deal with witnessing a murder; if we don't see, hear or talk about it, then it didn't happen.
