ANDERS THOMAS JENSEN

(1972 – )

Screenwriter, director. Born 6 April 1972. Self-taught.

Anders Thomas Jensen won an Oscar in 1999 for his short fiction film 'Election Night' and has since written more than 25 features in a wide variety of genres, including collaborations with directors Susanne Bier, Lone Scherfig, Søren Kragh-Jacobsen and Nikolaj Arcel. Jensen wrote the screenplay for Susanne Bier's 'In a Better World' (2010), which won an Academy Award for Best Foreign Language Film in 2011, and he also scripted Bier's 'After the Wedding', which received an Oscar nomination in 2007.

Jensen's own feature films as director, characterised by dark humour and comical contrasts, comprise 'Flickering Lights' (2000), 'The Green Butchers' (2003), 'Adam's Apples' (2005), 'Men & Chicken' (2015) and 'Riders of Justice' (2020).

In 2003, Jensen was awarded an Honorary Bodil Award for his overall achievement in Danish film.
